

ANOTHER POWERFUL AMERICAN ARMY NOW IS IN FRANCE, IT IS REVEALED; TWIN ASSAULT COLUMNS SLASH DEEP INTO GERMANY BENEATH SHATTERING AERIAL ATTACKS

Eisenhower Announces For First Time That Ninth
Army is at Front

ARE FORGING AHEAD

American Vanguard Are 10 Miles Inside of Germany

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Forces, Sept. 13.— Presence of another powerful American army in France—bringing to at least six the known number of separate Allied components now in action against Germany—was disclosed at Supreme headquarters today.

While twin assault columns of the U. S. First Army slashed deeper into Germany under cover of shattering aerial attacks, Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters announced for the first time that the Ninth Army is now operating on the battleground.

With American vanguards ten miles inside Germany and various Allied columns wheeling into position for flanking or frontal attack against the Siegfried Line, General Simpson's formidable Ninth Army joined an impressive array of American, British, Canadian and French military might lined up for the destruction of Germany. Inter-persed with these groups are French troops, plus Polish, Czech, and other forces especially trained and organized for the liberation of their homelands.

9th Birthday Observed
By West Bristol Youth

The ninth birthday anniversary of John Carson, son of Mrs. L. Carson, Broadway and Monroe street, West Bristol, was observed at a party on Saturday afternoon.

Novelties, paper hats, candy baskets were distributed, and decorations were in pink and blue. For the donkey games prize was given to Laura Faul, and for the pear game to Virginia Carson and Harry Faul. Ice cream, cake and cookies were served.

A guest of honor was John's brother, Pvt. George Rhoads, of the U. S. Army Air Corps, who is visiting his home while enroute from Maine to the Carolinas.

Other guests: May Vandine; Laura, Mildred, "Jimmie" and Harry Faul; Madeline and Harry Rit-terton, Joan Lister, Virginia and Diane Carson, Mrs. Joseph Lister, Mrs. J. Oliver Bowers, Mrs. Beam and Mrs. Carson.

John was presented with money and other gifts.

SCOUTS WANT WASTE PAPER

Scouts of Troop No. 48, Bristol Township, will conduct a scrap paper drive Saturday. Residents of the area are asked to have papers tied in bundles so that when the collectors call they will be ready.
If those having papers will call Bristol 2946 scouts and a truck will call.

STEADY PROGRESS MADE AGAINST GOTHIC LINE

Rome—Steady progress by American and British forces against German troops manning the Gothic line north of Florence and Pistoia was reported today. Headquarters said that the Allied armies were in close contact with the Germans in the Gothic line at several points.
Reports indicated that the Germans apparently are ready to meet any assault on the Gothic line and the whole defensive system was said to be strongly developed. The Fola Pass was termed comparatively stronger than Cassino.

MANY REICH INDUSTRIES BLASTED

London—More than 1,000 American heavy bombers, ranging over central, southern and western Germany, while other Yank planes blasted the enemy's Siegfried line—smashed synthetic oil plants and other industries throughout the Reich today.

RUSSIAN FORCES CONTINUE FINE PROGRESS

Moscow—Powerful Russian forces, rolling over German defenses below East Prussia on a broad front, made considerable progress today while other Soviet troops slashed through Transylvania's broad valleys ever nearer the Hungarian border.

Despite stubborn resistance of the combined Nazi-Hungarian forces in Transylvania, Bucharest quarters reported that the Russians—supported by Romanian troops—had smashed to within "a few miles" of the Hungarian border.

The inaugural dinner and meeting of the Employees Long Service Club of Rohm & Haas Co., took place at Sotring's Cafe, Croydon, on Monday evening. One hundred and two of a plant membership of 149 were served a fried chicken dinner.

E. Leslie Helwig, plant manager, served in the capacity of toastmaster; and honorary members attending were S. C. Kelton, secretary of the firm; Dr. Charles S.
Hollander, vice-president; and Theodore Wenzel, Sr., first superintendent of Bristol plant. Another honorary member is Otto Haas, president of the company.

Mr. Kelton was the main speaker of the evening, he reminiscing on early days at the local plant, and telling of the origin of the firm. Dr. Hollander also spoke briefly.

BRISTOL MAN GETS SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Rufus Scott, 27, Fined $5 and Costs of His Case

HE PLEADS GUILTY

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 13.—Domestic irregularities disturbed Rufus Scott, Negro, 27, Bristol, very much and when Raymond Lock, Negro, also of Bristol, insisted on visiting Scott's wife after being warned to keep away, it was almost too much.
Scott came home one evening in July and found that his wife had gone to the movies with Lock. He started out after them, but changed his mind and returned home where he spent the time reading, according to his testimony. At 11 o'clock the door bell rang and Mrs. Scott was there waiting to come in. She had Lock with her.

Scott explained that he knew that his wife's admirer always carried a very large knife, so, when he went out to reprimand him for taking his wife out, he took a knife along with him. After the reprimand was over, Lock went to the hospital with enough cuts in him to require twelve stitches.

Before Judge Keller, Scott pleaded guilty to assault and battery and was given a suspended sentence and fined $5 and costs. He was placed on probation for twenty-three months.

SUPPORT PLAN TO HAVE SILVER LAKE AREA MADE INTO STATE-MAINTAINED PARK, AND PROGRAM TO THAT END IS ENDORSED

Initial efforts were begun last evening to have Silver Lake and the grounds surrounding it made into a State Park area when members of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association unanimously endorsed a program towards this end.

Fifty members were on hand for the meeting held in Odd Fellows' Hall. Chairman Howard Asay was in charge of the session.

Announcement was also made by the Fish Committee of the Association that a fishing contest, open to every person holding a Pennsylvania fishing license, will be held at Silver Lake on Sunday, September 24th.

The Game Committee reported the purchase of pheasants for stock on open hunting territory in this section and announced that each bird would be banded and that prizes would be awarded to those members of the Association who return the first 12 birds.

Diaper Laundry Operator Speaks To Rotarians

ANDALUSIA, Sept. 13.—Thomas J. Skillman, Jr., of Philadelphia Rotary Club, addressed Bensalem Rotary Club last evening in King Hall.

Mr. Skillman is head of an unusual business, diaper service in Roxborough. In 1931 when he graduated from Princeton University, work was very difficult to find.
Through suggestions of relatives and friends, Mr. Skillman and a friend, a former college classmate, became interested in starting a diaper laundry. Before actually beginning however, they learned that such a business was already in operation in Chicago, Ill. Mr. Skill-man and his friend went to the mid-west city to secure pointers on the business.

To get started it was necessary for them to borrow $3500, and they started operations in Narberth.
Disappointments in the beginning were numerous. One was that the pipes leaked the first time they got up steam. Next, through addition of the wrong chemical, the laundry began to fill with chlorine gas which made them vacate for a time.
Finally the first batch of diapers were put in. Upon operating the machine, however, the diapers became every other color but white.
They found this was due to a brass wheel inside the machine. At the end of the first year the two had 65 to 70 customers. In 1937 they moved to Philadelphia because water rental was much cheaper there. Now the company supplies 5200 mothers and 17 hospitals with diaper service, and there are 72 employees.

Since Mr. Skillman's beginning other businesses of a like nature have started throughout the United States. About 50 of these have formed a national association representing 85 per cent of the entire business. A group of the laundries have also banded together to form a research council to keep abreast of the times.

Mr. Skillman's talk was amusing as well as informative.

Representative Will Explain Social Security

At one o'clock in the afternoon on the second and last Thursday of each month, a representative of the Kensington Field Office of the Social Security Board is at the Bristol Post Office to discuss this program and answer any questions for the residents of Bristol and vicinity.

Each person who has a social security number may have established rights to monthly payments at age 65, or in the event of death, protection, for his family survivors.
At the present time, over 1,000,000 persons are now receiving these monthly insurance payments.

It is important for you to know just where you stand with respect to your insurance protection in the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Program.

The Social Security Board Representative will answer any questions and render advice free of charge.
You're under no obligation whatever.

It is especially important for you to follow this general rule:

1. Contact this representative when you reach 65 whether or not you intend to continue working.

2. The survivors of a deceased worker should contact the representative without delay.

This is a service to you by your Government.

Catholic Daughters of America will be held on Thursday evening, in the K. of C. Home at 8.30 o'clock.

LETTERS TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY

No. VII.
(Doylestown Intelligencer, September 13th)

Dear John and Mary Citizen:—

Mary, this letter is especially for you, although I think John also will be keenly interested.

You share with the women of America a lively wish to improve political ideals and practices, to raise the ethics and cleanse the standards of election methods.

I hope most earnestly that you as a woman and a mother, as well as all the other mothers of America, will think over carefully the strategy by which the Democratic Party expects to re-elect President Roosevelt.

Waiving aside all questions of Constitutional guarantees and patterns of government, I believe everyone will agree that freedom of elections is the last line of defense of American liberties.

There can be no democracy, no "government of, by and for the people," if voters cannot freely make up their own minds how to vote, and if, after so voting, they cannot be reasonably sure that the votes will be honestly counted and recorded.

Stringent laws are on the statute books, both in the Federal and the State codes, to insure citizens of the right to vote as they wish, without intimidation and without retaliation; and to guarantee that votes so cast will be fairly counted.

This year the people of America are up against a situation which should set on edge the teeth of every freedom-loving believer in honest politics and high-principled public service.

President Roosevelt and his administration are permitting and condoning a combination of big-city political machine bosses and a despotic labor organization which expects to bully and steal enough votes to win a Fourth Term, regardless of what the majority sentiment of the nation may be.

For the first time in a hundred and forty years, there is a deliberate and open preparation to seize a national election by the use of fraudulent and unlawful political methods.

The last time that occurred was in 1800. Then it was attempted by Aaron Burr, who, incidentally, is the man who showed Tammany Hall how to play machine politics. Burr's political methods, streamlined by Communism and the so-called "labor movement," are with us again.

The big-city Democratic bosses, the Flynns, the O'Con-nells, the Hagues and the Kellys, are working hand in glove with the Communist-CIO forces of Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committees.

A man whose whole background in politics is that of the corrupt Prendergast machine, Senator Truman, was chosen by these forces as their fitting candidate for the important post of Vice-President.

The Democratic bosses come from densely populated metropolitan areas in various large and uncertain states. Vote stealing is nothing new for them. The ballot-counting in one of such cities alone might determine the vote of the entire state, and that state the outcome of the entire national election.

What necessary votes cannot be so obtained are to be pre-sured by the Political Action Committees.

This organization functions, in the main, through union officials and floor bosses in industrial plants.

What is the workman, who needs his job, going to reply when he gets his "request" from such sources for a campaign contribution, and when they tell him how he and his family are to vote?

National laws prohibit union contributions to political parties and put a ceiling of $3,000,000 on the amount which is to be spent by a political party for the election of a President.

Use of the PAC as an auxiliary of the Democratic Party doubles the expendable amount, and use by the PAC of a sub-

Hulmeville Girl Has A Party On 8th Birthday

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 13.—Marking her 8th birthday anniversary, Joyce Bamberg, of Ford and Lincoln avenues, entertained at a party on Saturday afternoon.

Guests were inclusive of: Geraldine and Rosemary Baker, Phoe-be and Jane Searies, Lorraine Keen, "Peggy" Bilger, Lorraine Smith, Dorle Maret, Eva Winder, John McDonald, of Hulmeville; Randolph Wasser, Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Wilkins, Philadelphia.

Games were indulged in on the lawn, with prizes given to Rosemary Baker, Jane Searies, Lorraine Keen, "Peggy" Bilger and Eva Winder.

Baskets of candy and paper hats were given as favors, with refreshments enjoyed.

IN ENGLISH HOSPITAL

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 13.—Mr.

Motorist Fails To Report An Accident

An unidentified motorist sometime during the night ran into and smashed the guard rail and bent one of the iron rail posts on the Beaver street bridge over Adams Hollow Creek.

Police were told that a man went through the windshield of the car which had the accident but a check of the hospitals failed to locate the reportedly injured man.

The motorist involved failed to report to police but the indications are that the guard rail and post were struck with much force.

TWO SPEAKERS URGE REPUBLICAN BACKING

Mrs. J. W. Cooper and Hon.
T. B. Stockham Give Food for Thought

AT WOMEN'S SESSION

An enthusiastic group attended the opening fall meeting of the Lower Bucks County Council of Republican Women at the Travel Club Home last evening.

The president, Mrs. David M.
Sheerer, Jr., extended a cordial welcome to all present. "America" was sung, and Mrs. Horace N.
Davis led in pledge of allegiance to the flag. Chairmen gave their reports. Mrs. William Arensmeyer was appointed chairman of post war planning committee. The council will sponsor a party for soldiers at Valley Forge Hospital on Sunday next. The local Red Cross chapter will arrange for sandwiches, cookies, etc., while four senior hostesses and 41 junior hostesses will assist in serving and entertaining the boys. The subject of organizing a council for junior women was discussed.

Mrs. Sheerer announced that the Southeastern Regional Conference will be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, on Sept.
29th, and urged all to attend. Mrs.
Clare Booth Luce will be the only speaker at the evening session in Town Hall, Philadelphia.

The first speaker last evening was Mrs. John W. Cooper, Pineville, founder of the local council. She gave much food for thought and her talk was in part as follows:
"Our greatest concern just now is to see that the Republican party elects its candidates at the coming election. If there is anyone here who has not registered as a Republican, please do so immediately as this election is a most critical one and will most probably be the turning point in the history of the American people. If Roosevelt is elected, the American plan of life will be so changed we will scarcely recognize it. Try to interest everyone in voting the right way this time. Mr. Dewey says 'Only you can elect me.' In 1932 Bucks County was Republican and Pennsylvania was Republican; in 1936 Bucks County was Republican and Pennsylvania Democratic; in 1940 Bucks County and Pennsylvania were both Democratic—all because everyone did not vote.

"We are proud of both of our candidates nominated at the convention in Chicago this summer—Gov. Dewey and Gov. Bricker. Contrast these gentlemen with Mr.
Roosevelt. Both are self-made and have earned their way through life, consequently, they give more thought to spending. Roosevelt has said 'There are no new frontiers,' while Dewey has faith in us all and says we have scarcely tapped our resources. When Roosevelt took office in 1932 he deplored the extravagance of the Hoover administration and made promise after promise which was never fulfilled.
Almost immediately he established the N.R.A., putting shackles on business, but the Wagner Act defeated this ruling. Then he created a scarcity of things. Animals were slaughtered and destroyed while fields of grain were plowed under.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

An Air Service Command Station, Somewhere in England, Sept.
13.—S/Sgt. James C. Lignore, husband of Alys M. Lignore, of Eddington, Pa., recently enjoyed a "recess" from aerial warfare at an Air Service Command Rest Home—a remodeled English manor house where America's airmen who provide aerial cover for the advancing Allied Armies in France may relax between missions.

Here, S/Sgt. Lignore put on sports clothes and lounged in the restful atmosphere of an old country home complete with butler, tea in bed, and every type of recreational facility. After seven days, he went back to his combat station ready to play his part once again in the air battle supporting the Allied march across the continent.

S/Sgt. Lignore has completed 24 missions over Nazi-dominated Europe. Before entering the Army he was employed as a painter by the Stahl & King Company.

CONSIDER PLANS FOR MARKING "V" DAY HERE

25 Individuals Meet in The Legion Home to Present Suggestions

CHAIRMEN NAMED
Program is Likely To Be Adopted at Meeting On Monday Night

How shall Bristol mark "V" Day?
That was the question propounded to 25 people who last night responded to the invitation of Bracken Post, American Legion, to meet and discuss the form the program for "V" Day should take.

There were, of course, 25 different opinions and suggestions offered and each one was worthy of consideration and discussion.

There was an almost unanimous opinion on one phase of the answers, and that was that such a celebration, observance or marking or whatever term it is desired to use, should not be of a disorderly or demoralizing nature, but that first people should offer thanks for the end of hostilities with Germany, and pray for the speedy and safe return of their kin engaged therein, and for a quick cessation of the strife with Japan. Prayers should also be offered for those who have paid the supreme sacrifice and consolation given to the parents and relatives of those who have laid down their lives in the great struggle.

It is realized that the first thought of many when word of the end of the war with Germany is received will be to "go on a binge," as it was expressed at the meeting. Such a method of observance, however, is not considered the proper one.

It must be remembered, it was brought out at the discussion, that with the end of the war with Germany, it does not mean that America is free of war. The war with Japan will go on even during the period of celebration and thanksgiving. Many fathers and mothers, wives, sweethearts and other relatives in Bristol will still not have their boys or their girls home, and many of them may never have the opportunity to see their sons, daughters, brothers, husbands or kin again. It is to these that deter-ence must be given.

It is realized that there must be given an opportunity to express a spirit of joyousness and of thanksgiving that at least the major part of the war is done, but it must always be kept in mind that America still has to fight Japan and that in so doing many lives are going to be lost. Even some of the boys who come back from the European theatre of war are likely to be transferred to the conflict in the Pacific, so while we may feel like celebrating, it must be with restraint, a sense of proportion and with consideration to

GERMAN CHARACTER TEST

All the speculation on what the Nazi leaders will do when they have only the choice of suing for peace or risking the personal consequences of invasion and possible capture and trial does not rule out the test of character which the mass of Germans will face when defeat overwhelms them.

In the impending crisis, German propaganda will work overtime to ring the changes on the peace-loving character of the German masses. They will be depicted as interested in their homes and children, as spending their leisure in quiet walks in the country and submitting their sensitive natures to the joys of music.

All this emphasis on the Christian virtues of the average German will, of course, be the work of the Prussian military caste. These junkers may even go so far as to set the whole Nazi political regime apart as a nightmare of coercion and cruelty inflicted upon the German people under the inspiration of Mussolini. The Junker leaders certainly will try to blame Russia for becoming so strong that she terrorized the peaceful German people with visions of a Communist Germany.

Undoubtedly this propaganda will have some effect. It will soften the determination of the victorious countries to carry out their threat to punish the German leaders for such acts of cruelty as pass the understanding of civilized people. Already the Russians have indicated that Germany must be helped to regain its ability to live under a fairly generous economy. The Junker overlords will not fail to make the most of their possible nuisance role in the general economy of Europe.

But it was this coddling of Germany following the last war that hurt her people so badly that they were unable to govern themselves as a republic.

There is no reason to believe that they will do any better this time if they are permitted to whine and weep their way out of the consequences of their savage brutality. They are not peace-loving, they are not interested in their homes and children. They are cultural frauds, and they are cowards in the face of truth. To treat them as anything else is the worst possible way to encourage the creation of a self-reliant and trustworthy Germany.

In an effort to sustain American prestige, no shoddy stuff will be shipped to any of the liberated nations, leaving that type of material for use here at home.

What seems to make the New Dealers madder than anything else is the realization that Governor Dewey has a good radio voice.

The Mexican who devised a new music system, dividing each tone into 16 parts, has given the saxophone players something to think about.

I knew a farmer who raised 100 bushels of wheat over and above his allotment. He would have been fined if he moved or sold it, so it wasted. Our cabinet officers scarcely function at all. There is no longer a Democratic party but a New Deal party coined by the president. Sydney Hillman, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Union, started the American Labor Party in New York, whose votes added to those of the regular party. In addition to bureaucracy, the Democratic party has brought about serious restrictions, one result being the employees having the advantage over the employer. If four more years are given to Roosevelt, we will see restrictions we have never dreamed of; rationing we have never known of and the greatest depression we have ever had. Gov. Dewey reminded us the Democrats propose to keep our men in the army because "it is cheaper than having them here." Dewey said they must come home as quickly as possible, and jobs will be found for them. Men and women must stand on their two feet. Theodore Roosevelt said the best citizen is the one who stands on his own feet and holds his own weight.

"If Gov. Dewey is elected we propose: first, to clean up all needless committees, bureaus, etc.; second, restore cabinet government by putting in men qualified and make them responsible to the president and the people; third, a balance between legislative and executive responsibility must and will be restored. Self-government can survive only so long as the people at home can have a voice in affairs. Finally, to create in this country an atmosphere of opportunity for the individual man or woman. Business must be free from shackles; money must be free to create new industry; small business must be free.

THOMAS E. DEWEY
Says:

"The present Administration has been in office for more than eleven years. Today, it is at war with

Battle of the Bureaucrats

Congress, and at war with itself. Squabbles between Cabinet members, feuds between rival bureaucrats and bitterness between the President and his own party members, in and out of Congress, have become the order of the day. In the vital matters of taxation, price control, rationing, labor relations, manpower, we have become familiar with the spectacle of wrangling, bungling and confusion."

Do everything you can to secure a Republican majority in Bristol and Bristol Township and I am sure you are going to try."

Another educational and instructive talk was given by the Hon. Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville, who spoke in part as follows:

"The American people are so aroused that all of our thoughts and energy are put to a severe test. There is something wrong when things in power did not sense the things that were going on abroad. They exercised and applied certain peculiar ideas which were no different from those abroad. Sydney Hillman expanded Tammany Hall all over the United States, and it has kept on and on until the Democratic party itself does not know where it is or where it is going. Greed and lack of Godliness are responsible for much of this evil. Scarcity was brought upon us to make a man more dependent. Every dollar in Social Security has been used. If we will hold to the truth, truth will make us free; if lies prevail, they shall enslave us. The wealth of this country was here when the Aborigines ruled. We also have wealth in the brains and minds of the people.

"Gov. Dewey, as a prosecuting attorney, has a criminal case to handle. The American people are the jury, and the verdict will come in November. It behooves everyone of you to do your utmost from now on. We must maintain our own strength and help others. The boys on the other side are not fighting and dying because they hope they will win but because they know they will win.

"I had the pleasure of hearing Pearl Buck speak on the subject of 'China' the other evening. She said the Chinese are like us—when they come here they think all Americans look alike. We think likewise of them but each one is different.

"In closing I want to say we have a big job to do, so let us go out and make effective what we have sworn to do here under Heaven."

The next meeting of council will be held October 10th, at which time election of officers and directors will take place.

Mel H. Hopkins will propose a program for the evening celebration, and William Mack will propose the musical organizations.

It is tentatively planned to first have a religious meeting either in one church or the various churches as thought best; a parade perhaps during the afternoon and then a mass meeting in the evening.

Of course any program which might be adopted hinges upon the hour at which official word of the cessation of hostilities is received.

Tap rooms and liquor stores are to be asked to close their establishments for a period after the announcement of the end of the war with Germany is made. An appeal is made to the people not to indulge in riotous celebration or a drinking bout.

Some of the industries are planning to close, the schools if in session will be dismissed, people will throw down their usual pursuits so as to participate in an outburst of joy and thankfulness. It is with

Support Plan To Have Silver Lake Area Made Into State Park

5th at Silver Lake will be a five-dollar sporting goods order. The contest, which will run from seven in the morning to nine in the evening, will be open to every licensed fisherman. All catches will be eligible for entry except carp. Additional prizes will probably be made for second and third places. Every part of the Lake will be open for fishing. Entries will be weighed in at the time they are caught. The Association Fish Committee will conduct the contest.

Pheasants which the Association has purchased will be released during the first part of October. Each bird will be banded with the name of the Association and each band will be numbered. Prizes will be given to those members of the Association who return the first 12 bands. The first band to be returned will be awarded a five-dollar prize. For each of the succeeding 11 bands a box of shotgun shells will be given. To be eligible for one of these prizes persons returning them must be a member of the Association as of November 1st, opening day of small game season. Headquarters for this program will be Bossler's Garage, 561 Otter street, Bristol. William Bossler, who arranged the program, is chairman of the Game Committee. Among the guests present last evening were Homer Hobbs, former member of the Association, and Steve Hendricks, both now serving with the U. S. Navy. Hendricks, who hails from Maine, told members of a few of his hunting experiences in that State.

Science Ass'n Has Review of 50 Years

Miss Mary S. Holmes, Philadelphia, and Mrs. George B. Brown, Yardley, charter members, gave extracts from papers they had written 50 years ago. President Miss Lydia P. Borden, of the D. V. N. U., brought greetings. H. Clay Borden, of Harboro, spoke on plant propagation. Mrs. William R. Stuckert gave a brief history of the association's 50 years.

Luncheon was eaten from tables decorated in honor of the golden anniversary.

The afternoon session was held in George School auditorium, and was opened by J. Wilmer Lundy, Newtown, speaking on "Early Autumn on Jersey Barrens, Plains and Beaches." This was made interesting by many specimens of sea lavender, Virginia cotton sedge, wool grass, reed grass, hayberry, and many others.

Dr. Charles E. Mohr, a zoologist from the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, gave an illustrated lecture, "From Dusk to Dawn," showing color pictures of owls, bats, tree toads, frogs and salamanders. He has banded many cave bats in an old iron mine in upper Bucks county.

Army Captain Writes Of Trip to France

get date for leaving. It had been raining like the dickens through the night and I was awake a couple of times and closed the window. A few minutes later the bell rang and I guessed that they were after me, although I had spent the previous day trying to learn when we would leave. It was for me, and I had seven minutes to dress and finish packing as we had to make the bus at headquarters to catch the train. The trouble had been that they didn't know if and when they could get a special train. So we made the bus and rearranged our bags, caught the train, and had four to the compartment.

Almost broke our necks carrying luggage and spent two nights in marshalling area. Awaiting orders to move time was spent in eating "C" rations which were new to me, and general housekeeping in large square tents. Heated the ration cans over fires which we built here and there. Each day's "C" rations consists of six cans, three of which are dry, i.e., crackers, hard candy and beverage powder (coffee or cocoa). The other three are wet food, i.e., one, beef hash; one, beef stew; and one, pork with baked beans. The meat in them is selected, with carrot and potatoes dried, and they only need to be heated, either in can or open in our pan.

We enjoyed life there in the small camp section, and our tent had four fellows (including myself) (two majors and two captains), all of whom I had known well.

We hadn't time to wash any clothes and of course didn't need any washing for brief stay. A camp across a field had large utensil washing kettles with steaming water, so eating equipment was kept clean. A camp "movie" nearby furnished amusement in a large tent. After a couple of days we went to the port via shanks pony. We had the fun of repacking our bed rolls which carry everything but the kitchen sink and an extra house chimney. And the Val-Packs carrying everything up to about a two-ton capacity. We boarded a new specially-built ship of perhaps 5000 tons, and were quartered on fold-up metal cots, three high, slung by chains from pipe stanchions. We were issued blankets and slept well after having gone to bed early. We had left the dock and passed plenty of interesting equipment and many type ships. No alarm clock was needed when the anchor-chain was hoisted as we were in the bow. I went above and enjoyed a couple of hours with the look-out, watching developments before day-break.

After several more hours sleep, breakfast call came, but the channel was pitching enough for me to pass over the opportunity, and I stayed in. As dining facilities are limited there are of course several sittings. Food was good but not elaborate. . . . We went up on deck and spent the morning inspecting the convoy and returning convoys, and seeing to what extent developments fitted into our expectations. Rumors had it both ways, that we would come into France by the port possibly, or more likely over the invasion beaches. As the magazines have shown we saw the beaches with dozens upon dozens of all sized ships, and they were beehives of activity. And the large and small landing craft were busily unloading the cargo ships and discharging their own burdens. Messages were transmitted by blinker from ship to ship, as beaches were passed en route to our destination.

side another ship and dropped anchor. A Navy L&T gave instructions to change location and we moved in. Later on the order of disembarkment was given and fellows of first units went over the side to lighters below. It took several trips and considerable time before everyone was safe on the point of the beach. As many other ships are discharging it is hard to keep everything where it should go.

Eventually after several hours into the night, trucks were procured, and Val-Packs and bedding rolls were thrown on, then we piled on and we were again on our way. We saw a lot of heavy artillery coming ashore while waiting for this last lap.

Through the night we rode for several hours—a beautiful moonlit night. We passed through villages all blown apart like the ones in newspaper picture sections, while some houses were missed. A couple of towns seemed not to have a roof or front intact, and many only inner walls left—much like buildings flattened out in blitzed areas of English cities. Our trucks got lost several times, and we had to find out from the few cars moving as to our bearings.

Finally we came upon our destination after several hours and were glad to find where we would live, so we could eat and sleep through the day.

So this brings to a close the account of our much-awaited trip across the channel. . . . We have been out of touch for a few days with news of the world, but understood the Canadians took Dieppe and the English yesterday took Dunkirk. It is also announced that we are within a few miles of the German border. So things are really moving along. . . .

HELPING TO MAKE VICTORY HEADLINES?

The boys on the fighting front have already done an excellent job of pushing the enemy back, but they must continue to receive the materials with which to complete the job.

You can help supply those materials by working at the ROHM & HAAS PLANT in BRISTOL.

You can know the thrill of actually helping to make Plexiglas canopies for such well-known airplanes as the Republic "Thunderbolt," the Navy's Curtis "Hell Diver" and the famed Grumman "Wildcat."

You can assist in the production of Plexiglas noses and turrets for the big bombers—the "Liberator," the "Martin Mariner" and the "B-26."

There are jobs in our Plastics Department waiting to be filled.

23th at Silver Lake will be a five-dollar sporting goods order. The contest, which will run from seven in the morning to nine in the evening, will be open to every licensed fisherman. All catches will be eligible for entry except carp. Additional prizes will probably be made for second and third places. Every part of the Lake will be open for fishing. Entries will be weighed in at the time they are caught. The Association Fish Committee will conduct the contest.

Pheasants which the Association has purchased will be released during the first part of October. Each bird will be banded with the name of the Association and each band will be numbered. Prizes will be given to those members of the Association who return the first 12 bands. The first band to be returned will be awarded a five-dollar prize. For each of the succeeding 11 bands a box of shotgun shells will be given. To be eligible for one of these prizes persons returning them must be a member of the Association as of November 1st, opening day of small game season. Headquarters for this program will be the Bossler's Garage, 561 Otter street, Bristol. William Bossler, who arranged the program, is chairman of the Game Committee. Among the guests present last evening were Homer Hobbs, former member of the Association, and Steve Hendricks, both now serving with the U. S. Navy. Hendricks, who hails from Maine, told members of a few of his hunting experiences in that State.

Science Ass'n Has Review of 50 Years

Miss Mary S. Holmes, Philadelphia, and Mrs. George B. Brown, Yardley, charter members, gave extracts from papers they had written 50 years ago. President Miss Lydia P. Borden, of the D. V. N. U., brought greetings. H. Clay Borden, of Haboro, spoke on plant propagation. Mrs. William R. Stuckert gave a brief history of the association's 50 years.

Luncheon was eaten from tables decorated in honor of the golden anniversary.

The afternoon session was held in George School auditorium, and was opened by J. Wilmer Lundy, Newtown, speaking on "Early Autumn on Jersey Barrens, Plains and Beaches." This was made interesting by many specimens of sea lavender, Virginia cotton sedge, wool grass, reed grass, bayberry, and many others.

Dr. Charles E. Mohr, a zoologist from the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, gave an illustrated lecture, "From Dusk to Dawn," showing color pictures of owls, bats, tree toads, frogs and salamanders. He has banded many cave bats in an old iron mine in upper-Bucks county.

The trouble had been that they didn't know if and when they could get a special train. So we made the bus and rearranged our bags, caught the train, and had four to the compartment.

Almost broke our necks carrying luggage and spent two nights in marshalling area. Awaiting orders to move time was spent in eating "C" rations which were new to me, and general housekeeping in large square tents. Heated the ration cans over fires which we built here and there. Each day's "C" rations consists of six cans, three of which are dry, i.e., crackers, hard candy and beverage powder (coffee or cocoa). The other three are wet food, i.e., one, beef hash; one, beef stew; and one, pork with baked beans. The meat in them is selected, with carrot and potatoes diced, and they only need to be heated, either in can or open in our pan.

We enjoyed life there in the small camp section, and our tent had four fellows (including myself) (two majors and two captains), all of whom I had known well.

We hadn't time to wash any clothes and of course didn't need any washing for brief stay. A camp across a field had large utensil washing kettles with steaming water, so eating equipment was kept clean. A camp "movie" nearby furnished amusement in a large tent. After a couple of days we went to the port via shanks pony. We had the fun of repacking our bed rolls which carry everything but the kitchen sink and an extra house chimney. And the Val-Packs carrying everything up to about a two-ton capacity. We boarded a new specially-built ship of perhaps 5000 tons, and were quartered on fold-up metal cots, three high, slung by chains from pipe stanchions. We were issued blankets and slept well after having gone to bed early. We had left the dock and passed plenty of interesting equipment and many type ships. No alarm clock was needed when the anchor-chain was hoisted as we slept in the bow. I went above and enjoyed a couple of hours with the look-out, watching developments before day-break.

After several more hours sleep, breakfast call came, but the channel was pitching enough for me to pass over the opportunity, and I stayed in. As dining facilities are limited there are of course several sittings. Food was good but not elaborate. . . .

We went up on deck and spent the morning inspecting the convoy and returning convoys, and seeing to what extent developments fitted into our expectations. Rumors had it both ways, that we would come into France by the port possibly, or more likely over the invasion beaches. As the magazines have shown we saw the beaches with dozens upon dozens of all sized ships, and they were beehives of activity. And the large and small landing craft were busily unloading the cargo ships and discharging their own burdens. Messages were transmitted by blinker from ship to ship, as beaches were passed en route to our destination.

side another ship and dropped anchor. A Navy LCT gave instructions to change location and we moved in. Later on the order of disembarkment was given and fellows of first units went over the side to lighters below. It took several trips and considerable time before everyone was safe on the point of the beach. As many other ships are discharging it is hard to keep everything where it should go.

Eventually after several hours into the night, trucks were procured, and Val-Packs and bedding rolls were thrown on, then we piled on and we were again on our way. We saw a lot of heavy artillery coming ashore while waiting for this last lap.

Through the night we rode for several hours—a beautiful moonlit night. We passed through villages all blown apart like the ones in newspaper picture sections, while some houses were missed. A couple of towns seemed not to have a roof or front intact, and many only inner walls left—much like buildings flattened out in blitzed areas of English cities. Our trucks got lost several times, and we had to find out from the few cars moving as to our bearings.

Finally we came upon our destination after several hours and were glad to find where we would live, so we could eat and sleep through the day.

So this brings to a close the account of our much-awaited trip across the channel. . . .

We have been out of touch for a few days with news of the world, but understood the Canadians took Dieppe and the English yesterday took Dunkirk. It is also announced that we are within a few miles of the German border. So things are really moving along. . . .
